

Provides total body healing!

A simpler explanation!

Most people at some point in their lives have had experience with trying to grow a plant. If a person had a healthy tomato plant growing, the plant would require a certain amount of water. If you happened to park your car on the water hose that watered your tomato plant and restrict the flow of water to the plant, given time, the plant would grow sick. The plant would become weak, sick, and diseased and would eventually die. No matter what you have done to the plant, new soil, miracle grow, etc. without enough water it will not be healthy. The cause of the plant's sickness would be the restriction of life giving water.

In the human body, the water hose is the brainstem. The brainstem sends out life force messages (mental impulses) to all parts of the body. If the brainstem is constricted, life and health slowly fade away. Upper Cervical Care is the procedure that ensures that the brainstem stays restriction free. These doctors make sure the body heals at its highest potential ensuring not just existence, but an abundant life full of health and longevity.

If you have any health problems, small or large, young or old, you should have your brainstem area checked.

What is upper cervical procedure?

Upper Cervical Care (UCC) is a procedure that restores the body's ability to heal itself. God designed the body to be able to heal itself of all diseases. The question arises then, why do so many people suffer with sickness, pain and disease. The answer is, most people's bodies are not healing the way they should.

If these people were healing the way God intended their body to heal, would they be suffering from these health problems? The obvious answer is NO! If a person was healing the way God intended them to heal, their body would heal itself of all its problems and they would be healthy.

(The word "Health" is derived from the word "heal". For a person to be healthy, they must be healing at their full potential.)

The healing we are discussing is not "miraculous healing" or "spiritual healing". We are talking about the healing that occurs if you cut your finger.

The cut will physically heal up given enough time. We expect our bodies to heal of cuts and scrapes and even broken bones. If we expect people to heal of broken bones, why don't we expect people to heal of conditions like diabetes? Can the body heal itself of diabetes? ABSOLUTELY! The next question is, "then why aren't people healing of diseases like diabetes, heart disease and cancer?" The reason is because their bodies are not healing the way they were designed too.

What makes the body heal?

The system that tells the body how to heal is the nerve system. Every cell in the body has a nerve going to it. Nerves carry electrical impulses to the cells. These electrical impulses tell each cell how to function and when to function and if that cell gets damaged, the nerve tells that cell how to repair or (heal).

How is healing inhibited?

The brain and brainstem are the structures responsible for sending out nerve impulses to the body. The spinal cord carries these impulses to all the different cells. The spinal cord passes through each of the vertebra in your spine. The top vertebra, the one directly under your skull, is highly unstable. If this vertebra, called the atlas, gets slightly out of its proper position, it will start to constrict or strangle the spinal cord which passes through it. This constriction inhibits the nerve impulses from reaching the body causing the body to malfunction (get sick) and also inhibit the body from being able to heal at its full potential.
